Creative Futurist, Keynote speaker, Author of Sharkonomics, Guest Professor (NYU Prague).

Sharkonomics: How to attack and defend your business in today's disruptive digital waters

As Sir Richard Branson has said: "To survive, companies have to behave like sharks – if they don't keep moving they will drown." With digitalization, business is now as competitive as Nature, where everyone is on the menu. There are no longer limitations in terms of countries, markets or segments. Digital sharks such as Amazon and Alibaba are moving across the globe towards anything they can feed on. This increases the need for management to update itself in both attacking and defensive moves.

Sharks are one of Nature's most revered and feared predators. But if you study their behaviour, you will learn that they are also highly strategic and efficient in the way they survive and thrive in Nature's competitive environment. Inspired by the shark's evolved (over 420 million years) instincts and strategic moves, this original and inspiring book provides businesses with 10 ways to attack market leaders and take market share. On top of that, it offers defence tactics against attack for those companies seeking to protect their market share.

‘In Sharkonomics, Stefan Engeseth bites hard into the future of management.’

Daniel Pink, Author of When: The Scientific Secrets of Perfect Timing

‘Sharkonomics provides sharp insights into what drives success in today’s disruptive business world.’

Marshall Goldsmith, NYT bestselling author, and two-time Thinkers 50 #1 Leadership Thinker

‘Creative parallels to the world of nature and sharks and provides a fresh look at business.’

Merci Olsson, Marketing and Communications Director, Nobelprize.org

‘A stimulating read!’

Prof. Philip Kotler

‘World class! A powerful inspirational speaker and a pure business genius!’

Magnus Serratusell Wallin, Marketing Manager, PE Accounting

Why Sharkonomics?

Quite simply, nature is smarter than the likes of Stanford, Harvard, MIT, McKinsey, Boston Consulting Group, Bain, IBM, Apple and all of the other Fortune 500 companies. In nature, sharks have to move to survive. But in business most market leaders remain static, because they are stuck in history – and eventually they become shark food. Sharks don’t perform by producing endless Power Points; they take chunks out of market share. Sharkonomics will reveal how the logos of market leaders will have more chunks taken out of them than a seal after a shark picnic.

It’s not just about attack

Sharkonomics also includes tactics for companies to defend themselves against attack. It is important to state that Sharkonomics is inspired by nature; Engeseth’s intention is not to spread fear – except perhaps in boardrooms!

Deep research

Stefan, the author of Sharkonomics, dived with sharks in South Africa as part of his research for the book!

- Digitize or Die.
- Don't get stuck in history: Test and adapt before it's too late.
- Move or die: Sharks move 24/7 most brands don't.
- Apple, Google, Toyota, Alibaba and IKEA's mortality vs. evolution.
- More case studies and discussion in BtoB, BtoC and CtoC.
- Sharks works functional but still they manage to create an emotion strong brand, with their triangle dorsal fin and jaws.
- Sharks have been superior in creating ROI in over 420 million years and still are leader in their territory.
- Discussion: Attack and defense scenarios effects in long and short term on brand- and business performance?
